

About Us

Greenwood Painting was founded in 1987 by Jim Greenwood.

Jim grew up in Brooklyn Park and went to Osseo Sr. High and some college. After high school and during college, Jim worked as a painter. He later pursued a sales position with Highland Superstore then Best Buy selling electronics. Best Buy had a structure change and Jim decided to open a painting company. After almost 20 years, his company has grown into one of the top painting companies in the state. Jim still walks through every job to assure that quality that has kept him in business over the years. Jim enjoys sports and family time and sponsors his own men's softball and basketball teams.

Greenwood Painting also gives back to the community in several ways. Sponsors youth sports, supports St. Vincent de Paul Church and are involved in a 06 Buyers Outreach Foundation Home in St. Paul.

Services

Interior Painting

When it comes to interior painting and decorating, there are basically just two options for any wall: either it becomes a coordinated backdrop to other strong elements within the room, such as furniture, bringing a scheme together; or the wall becomes the main feature in itself.

Just as color can alter the sense of space, it can also alter the mood in a room. Research shows that color imparts its own unique psychological effect: relaxed, animated or somewhere in between. We can help you create rooms that not only look good, but also feel right.

Exterior Painting

Keeping a good coat of paint, stain or preservatives on exterior wood, stucco, brick or vinyl materials - and some metals, as well - is essential home maintenance. In addition, most sources cite a good fresh coat of exterior treatments as one of the best investments you can make in getting a home ready to sell.

Commercial Interior and Exterior Painting

- Apartments
- Restaurants
- Offices
- Hospitals
- Hotels
- Churches
- Warehouses

A nicely painted, colorful or elegant entrance to an office, store or restaurant is one of the best marketing tools to attract people into your establishment. It appeals to the senses and becomes inviting even when just passing by. There are other elements in the formula, such as landscaping, but many business owners and managers fail to realize that a faded, old and boring look of the overall exterior and interior of their establishment causes people not to notice their business when passing by or to prefer going somewhere else more appealing.

Quality Products

Paints today are manufactured with very high standards and quality controls that provide great colors, performance, and cost-effectiveness. It's easy to get confused in the store because there are so many different brands to choose from, each with a variety of additives and enhancers. But in reality, there are only three different grades of interior paint: low grade (often referred to as professional-grade or architectural-grade paint, used mainly in offices or apartments where frequent repainting is standard maintenance), medium grade (also called decorator grade, a good choice for low-traffic rooms where there is little wear and tear), and high grade paint (a coat that once dry has a film that is 50% thicker than that of a low-cost paint; the result is a tougher, more durable finish that resists fading).

When you contract with Greenwood Painting, you can count on prompt, efficient services performed with a minimum of disruption to you and your clients.

Testimonials

A belated thank you for the beautiful job you did painting my living room and dining room. Everyone who has visited has really been impressed. I've told people who are looking for painters about you.

Father Jack Long

We wanted to express our appreciation for the work you did on our new home. In our complete renovation of our home, your company did the interior painting for approx. 3,200 square feet.

Because of other projects going on simultaneously, your crew painted the interior in three phases and had to work alongside a crowd of other contractors. Your crew was timely, professional and easy to work with. The attention to detail was good and we were impressed with the clean lines. We also felt comfortable having your painters here when we were not home (at one point, we even left town!)

Please feel free to have prospective future clients contact us should they need more details of our experience with Greenwood Painting. Best of luck to you with your growing business!

Greenwood Painting painted our brick home in Golden Valley. The prep work, which is extremely important when you paint your home, was done with attention to detail. I was very impressed with the employees. They were very professional, timely and polite. Our home looks like new!
